

BIG OUTINGS FOR Y. M. C. A. BOYS

Camp at Pine Flats Will Be Open From June 21 to July 19 for All Boys

Glendale was represented by Secretary Rex Kelley at a meeting of the staff of the county Y. M. C. A. at Alhambra Wednesday.

The next big thing in the county Y. M. C. A. program as discussed at that meeting, was the spring round-up. This will be a gathering of grammar school boys from all over the county and will be in the nature of an over-night hike. A number of locations have been offered to the organization and to Mr. Kelley has been assigned the duty of visiting them and selecting the most desirable, as it is quite a problem to take care of the 300 or more boys who will want to go, and the question of water, sanitation, etc., must be carefully considered.

Close upon this will be the summer camp at Pine Flats which will run from June 21 to July 19. The first two weeks will be for the older boys, the second fortnight for the younger ones.

The Pine Flats camp is situated on a beautiful site at the head of the north fork of the San Gabriel river, at an elevation of 6000 feet. With the equipment which nature and the organization have provided, it affords every opportunity for the fullest participation in those activities that appeal to the normal boy—swimming, woodcraft, athletics, etc., but these strenuous pleasures will be tempered by the more cultured activities of an educational and religious nature, and around out the four-fold plan of development which is the goal of all association work. Supervision by men experienced in boy nature and camping will safeguard the life and welfare of all boys who attend.

This camp will be open not only to boys who are members of the Y. M. C. A. clubs, but to all boys in Glendale. Last year a large number of boys attended the Pine Flats camp, and this year the local secretary is planning to take care of an even greater number. In the near future there will be places announced where boys can register for either of these two camp outings.

ROSENSHINE'S SMALL CLAIMS BILL PASSES

(By International News Service)
SACRAMENTO, April 28.—Assemblyman Albert A. Rosenshine's small claims court bill passed the senate last night without opposition. It now goes to the governor. The bill provides an entire system of civil justice for "poor people" by eliminating most of the expenses of court procedure. Under its terms the justices of the peace will act as arbiters, claimant and defendant appearing before him without counsel or other legal assistance. The small claims courts will handle suits involving only $50 or less.

HONOR MRS. MUNN'S BIRTH ANNIVERSARY

Relatives and Old-Time Friends Assist in Celebrating Happy Occasion—Musical Numbers Add Pleasure to the Gathering—Handsome Floral Decorations

Time as recorded by foolish mortals, marked off for Mrs. Sarah Munn, of 515 West Colorado street, on last Monday, April 25, four score and four years of life. But let no one infer from this that Mrs. Munn is an old lady. No lady of half that number of years ever prepared for her birthday party with more zest and pleasurable anticipation than that with which she entered into the preparations for the reception she held on the afternoon of that day.

Mrs. Munn's daughters, Mrs. Doris Bundy, Mrs. Arthur G. Munn, of San Fernando, and Miss Addie Munn, assisted in receiving the guests.

Printed programs in dainty apple-green, announced the following musical numbers prepared in honor of the occasion: Soprano solo, Mrs. Ethel Toland-Frey; tenor solo, Bernard Munn; mezzo-soprano, Mrs. Clarice Munn Taylor; "The Rosary," phonograph number; quartet, "Nearer My God to Thee"; solo with ukulele accompaniment, Miss Sybil Munn; violin solo, Miss Constance Rimpau. A charming feature of the afternoon was the reading of the following original poem by Miss Bess Munn, granddaughter of Mrs. Munn and well-known newspaper writer:

FOUR SCORE YEARS AND FOUR
To Sarah E. Munn on Her 84th Birthday

Four score years and four of life,
A generous span of days,
A generous time for happiness
In life's mysterious maze.

Four score years and four of life,
Of memories and friends,
Whose constancy and kindness
For sorrows make amends.

Four score years and four of life,
Of seed and blossom time,
Of harvesting and garnering,
Of melody and rhyme.

Four score years and four of time
A goodly space to live;
And may time from her store of years
Have many more to give.

Guests invited were all relatives or old friends of the celebrant of the happy day and included, Mr. and Mrs. (Continued on Page 8.)

GLENDALE CREDIT ASSOCIATION PLANS

The credit association committee of the chamber of commerce of which C. E. Neals is chairman, met for a noon luncheon and discussion at the White Inn today (Thursday), and was addressed by Mr. Miller of the credit department of Hamburgers, Los Angeles. Covers were laid for Secretary Rhoades, and Messrs. Miller, Neale, McPeck, Butts, Cornwell, Green, Newton, Trice, Naudain and A. Parker.

Before Mr. Miller was introduced Mr. Neale stated that the chamber of commerce had offered quarters with out charge for a credit bureau should an association be organized, and the only immediate expense would be the necessary equipment in the way of furniture, files, etc., and the salary of a manager to collect information and answer inquiries. He suggested that the fee include a certain minimum of local inquiries on the credit standing of buyers, with an extra charge for information to be secured from Los Angeles or other outside cities where it would be necessary to visit merchants and inspect ledger accounts. The speaker made it clear that a very large amount of business is going to Los Angeles because the accommodation of credit can be secured there. With such a local association to protect them Glendale merchants would be in a position to extend the same degree of credit and by standing together all would be benefited. The Pasadena association he stated has 500 members.

The asking for credit is not necessarily a sign of inability to pay cash, he said. It is merely a convenience which the customer desires. The local association becomes affiliated with the national association and thus secures access to information from all parts of the United States where credit associations are in existence, a great boon to Californians because so many new residents are coming from the east and middle west.

Several questions were asked which Mr. Miller was able to answer satisfactorily and it seems probable that such an organization will be effected here.

MRS. ANNETTE ADAMS WILL PRACTICE LAW

(By International News Service)
WASHINGTON, April 28.—Mrs. Annette Abbott Adams, assistant attorney general and the first woman ever to hold that office, soon will resign and return to the practice of law. It was learned at the department of justice today.

Mrs. Adams probably will return to San Francisco, having gained distinction as the writer of most of the "dry" law opinions of the department of justice. She also passed upon legal questions involved in tax and customs matters.

MESSAGE TO GLENDALE THEME OF EVANGELIST

Noah, Warned in Dream, Prepares the Ark—God Warns the People of Glendale to Make the Home the Ark of Safety for Parents as Well as Children

EVANGELIST PAID TRIBUTE TO "DREAMERS"

Large Number of High School Boys Occupy Reserved Section at Tabernacle Last Evening—Mr. and Mrs. Stover Give Wonderful Duet on Cornets

The subject of Evangelist John Brown's sermon at the tabernacle last evening was "God's Message to Glendale." He read for a text, Hebrews 11:7: "By faith Noah warned of God concerning things not seen as yet, moved with Godly fear, prepared an ark for the saving of his house by which he condemned the world."

Some people, the preacher declared, stumble over the fact of God taking human life in such vast numbers as at the time of the flood, when all but eight of the world's population were destroyed, and other instances in which cities and even whole nations were completely wiped out. It is like what happens in a great conflagration when great buildings owned by persons, which buildings are in the line of the fire, are destroyed by dynamite or other explosives to check the spread of the flames. So God utterly destroyed these wicked peoples in order to save His own.

The evangelist then paid a tribute to the world's dreamers, saying that the dreamer of today is the doer of tomorrow. Noah was warned in a dream and, moved by faith, he went on in the even tenor of his way and for 120 years or thereabouts, ignored the jeers of the people surrounding him, determined to carry out the will of God as revealed to him in the vision. So today, the dreamer, moved by faith, carries out the projects which have been revealed to him in his dream, despite the world's opposition. Noah was moved by Godly fear, so we today should fear to displease God rather than to fear the displeasure of men.

Noah, the preacher said, is the type of the son in the home. He fears his father because he loves him and the father should inspire this Godly fear in his son so that he will be obeyed not from a cowardly fear of chastisement, but because he loves his father and fears to offend him. "The fear of God means a white life and the fear of man means a white liver!" was the striking epigram here interjected by the speaker.

The sacredness of the home and its importance in the Christian life was dwelt upon at great length. As Noah made an ark for the saving of his family, so the home should be the ark of safety for the inmates thereof. Every revival should begin in the home. God's message to Glendale, the evangelist said, is a warning to make the home an ark of safety for the parents as well as the children, and thereby build up and strengthen the church of God.

There were two striking special features of last night's service. One was the entry of the 100 high school boys who had been banqueted at the First Baptist church and for whom seats had been reserved in the center of the tabernacle. They were received with great applause by the large audience, and under the direction of Otis Ironmonger, rendered two songs very effectively. The other was a visit from Jimmie Garth of Long Beach, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Stover, former members of Rev. Brown's evangelistic company. The Stovers gave a wonderful cornet duet which fairly carried away the audience and so insistent was the applause that they were forced to respond with an encore number.

Otis Ironmonger's solo was "A Child of the King."

HOME OF MONARCH AUTO SUPPLY CO.

Grading Completed but Foundations Will Be Deferred Until Later Date

Peter Ferry reported this morning that he had about completed the grading of the 107 feet on the southeast corner of Harvard and Brand owned by the Monarch Auto Supply Company. When asked how soon building would start Mr. Butts of the Monarch Company said he did not know, that the grading had been ordered because it was an advantageous time to secure Mr. Ferry's services, but plans for the building had been changed several times and more changes were being considered. No move to erect the building would be made until those plans cover every point that the company has in mind in providing itself with a permanent home. It may be several months before foundations go in, he said. On the other hand—"but then, what's the use of talking about it?" He admitted the lot could be sold at a profit sufficient to provide the building, but that is no temptation as its site is where he and his business associates want to be, in the heart of things.

PRESIDENT REVIEWS ATLANTIC FLEET

(By International News Service)
NORFOLK, Va., April 28.—After riding over a north gale off the Virginia Capes last night, the Atlantic fleet headed by the battleship Pennsylvania, flagship, started into Hampton Roads at 6:30 o'clock this morning. The fleet is to pass in review before President Harding and Secretary of the Navy Denby. The Mayflower arrived in Hampton Roads almost at the same moment that the fleet started through the Virginia Capes. The Mayflower will take up a position off Thimble Shoals and each ship of the fleet will pass in review before the President and party who will be on the deck of the Mayflower.

LA RAMADA SOLD TO MISSES BALDWIN

Purchased From Pacific Electric Land Company for Amusement Park

Misses Ida and Jeannette Baldwin of 903 South Central avenue, who teach in Los Angeles Polytechnic high have purchased the La Ramada. They also acquire the Casa Verdugo which has for some years been conducted by Mrs. Soule who will continue to run it.

They are to have immediate possession and will convert the La Ramada grounds into an amusement park. The property was purchased from the Pacific Electric Land Company, and the new owners intend to live upon it and personally superintend the improvements planned. The deal was put through by Burton & Chandler and was one of the biggest transactions they have handled for some time, they say, though they refuse to state the consideration paid. The general impression is that it may be used as the site for a hotel, but on that point Messrs. Burton & Chandler are dumb.

EVANGELIST BROWN ATTAINS HIS WISH

Evangelist John Brown's wish has been realized. He said a few evenings ago that he would not be satisfied with the Glendale campaign until the tabernacle was half filled at the morning meetings. More than half the seats were occupied at the service this morning.

The meeting opened with the customary song service, and a solo by Mr. Ironmonger: "Oh, Make Me Pure." Evangelist Brown then gave the third of his series of talks on "The Spirit Filled Life," his theme this morning being: "How Do We Receive the Holy Spirit?"

After mentioning three false theories concerning the receiving of the Holy Spirit, he maintained throughout the talk that the Spirit is given at conversion. He said:

"The Holy Spirit is the Abiding One in the heart of believers. In the old testament, He was in the world as the Transitory One and was also manifest in this way during the lifetime of Christ, but in the new dispensation, He is the Abiding One."

"There is only one way laid down by which we receive the Holy Spirit and that is the one way we may scripturally teach, and that is: 'Repent and be baptized, every one of you, in the name of Jesus Christ, for the remission of sins, and ye shall receive the gift of the Holy Spirit.'"

"Not since the day of Pentecost, the beginning of the dispensation of the Holy Spirit, has He been received by prayer and fasting but by obedience to Christ. What we need to pray for is not that the Holy Spirit be sent but that we abandon ourselves to Him who dwells already in the Christian." The evangelist appealed to the congregation to yield themselves as members of righteousness in the body of Christ. He said: "There is war between the flesh and the spirit when one becomes a spiritual man. When a person is born again he should let the Spirit take possession of him. Has the Spirit filled you? If it has, it will not be shown by your professions but by the fruits of the Spirit which are joy, peace, long suffering, Godliness. Against these there is no law."

The climax of these talks and the concluding one on this general theme will be tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock.

NEW FEED AND FUEL ESTABLISHMENT OPEN

Coming from the far eastern coast to join his brother in this land of sunshine and flowers, Curtis C. Sawyer, after he and his family had enjoyed the delights of the new country for a season, grew restive for something to do. So he and his brother, Will W., former Glendale grocer and for the past two or three years successful rancher on a small scale, decided to establish a feed and fuel business in Glendale's new industrial district that borders the busiest highway in all the Southland, South Fernando road. A light, airy building of concrete stone was erected, so placed that the cool western breezes constantly play through it, keeping the grain from heating and becoming infested with weevil. The building is 52 by 111 and is fitted with every convenience for handling hay, grain and fuel. They keep a varied line and will add to it as conditions warrant. They have a fine new truck and will make deliveries promptly. Their phone number is Glendale 1943.

The Sawyers are fine young business men and are certainly entitled to a share of the vast trade of this section in the feed and fuel line. They will be glad to receive visits from friends and prospective customers and will take delight in showing them through their handsome quarters.

LATE AT HIS POST

Benjamin Robison, Jr., is employed in an Oak Knoll private school in Pasadena in preliminary scout work and athletic training. He was late at his post this morning because of the failure of the Ocean Park-Pasadena bus to make its appearance on time and waited as did many others along the route for three-quarters of an hour or more.

MISS ALTA LOVELL GIVEN SHOWER

Is Honoree at Pretty Affair
Given at Home of Mrs.
C. A. Bowen

Miss Alta Lovell was honoree at a pretty affair which proved to be a miscellaneous shower, that took place Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. C. A. Bowen, 212 West Garfield avenue. The gifts, which were numerous and beautiful, included linen, cut glass, silver, kitchen ware and every sort of thing a young housekeeper could use.

A scarlet and white scheme of decoration was carried out with streamers looped to a chandelier above a piled. A small, scarlet inverted umbrella hung from the chandelier, as a suggestion of the purpose of the gathering.

It was an informal social afternoon and delicious cocoa and cake were served at the close by the hostess, who was assisted by her daughter, Miss Murlie Bowen.

The guest list included Miss Alta Lovell, Mrs. H. I. Lovell, Miss V. Lovell, Mrs. Cora Dilley, Mrs. A. J. Harrison, Mrs. Gearhart, Mrs. M. Lons, Mrs. G. F. Adams, Mrs. A. W. Martin, Miss Pearl Martin, Mrs. A. Hunter, Mrs. L. Goldthwaite, Mrs. J. Goldthwaite, Mrs. Kortz, Mrs. Smith, Mrs. D. Shorman, all of Glendale; Mrs. Gillette and Mrs. Hall of Los Angeles, and Mrs. Orcutt and daughter Edna, of San Gabriel.

Miss Lovell will become the bride of Harlowe A. Harrison on May 18. Her fiancé is an employee of the city and he is building a home at 221 West Lomita which is practically completed.

FIRE NEAR THE GLENDALE LAUNDRY

About 2 o'clock this afternoon a pile of brush in the Wash near the Glendale Laundry, Arden and Columbus avenues, caught fire and spread over an area of two or three blocks. W. E. Hewitt, proprietor of the Glendale Laundry, and his men, materially helped the firemen in fighting the flames and preventing their spread to nearby residences. Hale Anderson, one of the employees of the laundry, was overcome by the smoke and heat in fighting the flames, and had to be removed to the Glendale sanitarium and hospital.

After the arrival of the fire department the flames were soon under control, and thanks to the valuable help of the laundry force, there was no material damage.

EVANGELISTS AT HIGH SCHOOL

Evangelist Brown addressed and Otis Ironmonger sung before an assembly of high school students Wednesday afternoon. Principal Moyses who introduced them stated he hardly knew how to present Mr. Brown, as a minister or a college president, since he is the head of an Arkansas college.

In beginning his talk Mr. Brown told a number of humorous incidents, in particular one in the early days of his career as an evangelist when he thought because he was speaking in a church he must wear the garb of the ministry. He donned a Prince Albert coat and then found himself most embarrassed because there were no pockets in which to hide his hands. The point he drove home was the importance of an education, but even more important, is a good character. In closing he made a plea for the things which make for good characters and clean living.

Floyd Clark, the pianist of the Brown company favored the assembly with several selections played in the typical Clark manner. An invitation was given the students to attend the evangelistic services in a body some evening at their convenience, when they were assured a special place would be reserved for them.

METHODIST ASSEMBLY BUYS THIRTEEN ACRES

Site Was Selected by Process of Elimination—Intend to Add Enough Land to Bring Holdings to One Hundred Acres—Will Establish Large Institution

The Methodist Assembly of Southern California will move from the 13 acres it owns in Huntington Beach to a sit in the Santa Monica Canyon. The acreage which comprises the Huntington Beach Assembly is now under lease for oil. If oil is not discovered on it this property will eventually be sold and the money will probably go into the fund to purchase the Santa Monica Canyon property. The Methodists intend to have, ultimately, a large tract there, where they will establish an institution that will compare with the famous Methodist Assembly at Asbury Park. It is reported that the tract will contain at least 100 acres.

The site selected is said to be an ideal one. Located in a beautiful canyon adjacent to Santa Monica, it has the advantage of being close to the ocean as well as being picturesquely situated in a canyon.

This location was selected by a process of elimination. A site at Naples was offered the assembly; it included a part of what is now Belmont Shore Place. Santa Monica offered a site and so did property owners in the Santa Monica canyon. The various locations were carefully considered by the committee. The Santa Monica canyon site appealed to the committee as the most scenic and the most suitable in every way. A "foothold" was at once secured and it is understood that the large site desired by the Methodists can be secured with little difficulty.

Plans are still embryonic, but it is said that an administration building and a large auditorium will be the first structures erected. It is understood that the auditorium will be large enough to seat at least 5000 people.

A Methodist picnic will be held in the Santa Monica canyon next Monday, in order that members from all over Southern California may have an opportunity of viewing the site.

Methodist ministers will hold a meeting there at 10 o'clock in the morning. After the picnic lunch at noon the plans of the assembly will be discussed. A series of athletic events under the direction of Sam Stagg, director of social life and education of the First Methodist church of Pasadena will be a feature of the afternoon.

A voting contest to determine the name of the assembly will be held, the contestants being asked to submit euphonious names of Indian, Spanish and English derivation.

Establishment of the Methodist assembly in the Santa Monica canyon will no doubt solve the problem of the entertainment of the Southern Methodist Episcopal conference. Owing to the great growth of Methodism in this section, the task of finding a place where the conference can be held without entailing too great labor or expense on the church that is its host, has become more perplexing with each succeeding year.

Last year the conference was entertained by Grace M. E. church of Long Beach. This year the week day meetings of the conference (which meets in October) will be held at the University Methodist church, in Los Angeles, and the Sunday meetings in the new administration building of the University of Southern California, now nearing completion.

SAN PEDRO KNIGHTS VISIT LOCAL K. OF P.

At the meeting this week, Chancellor Commander Emil E. Framm presided as usual. The members were favored by the visit of a delegation from San Pedro Lodge, several of whom addressed the lodge.

Among the visitors were noted a number from the state of Ohio, a state noted for its Pythians and presidents.

Notable work was done by the degree team of Glendale Lodge which has become famous for the excellence of its ritualistic work.

The next meeting will be a red-hot "top-notcher." The magnificent ceremonial of the Page Rank will be exemplified. The Van Nuys Lodge will be our guests for the evening. An entertainment and banquet has been prepared to complete the program.

The date for the annual K. P. memorial service has been set for Sunday, June 5, at Forest Lawn memorial park. Prominent speakers will address the membership and their friends. Twenty-six lodges will be represented.

CONFUSING SYMPTOMS

"Why don't you go in?" asked one tramp of the other, as they stood before the gate. "Dat dog's all right; don't you see him waggin' his tail?" "Sure I do," said the second tramp, but he's growlin' too, and I don't know which end to believe."—The Advance.

DORSEY MOTTERN GUEST OF HONOR

Dorsey Mottern, son of Rev. and Mrs. R. W. Mottern of 211 North Adams street, was the guest of honor at a party given him by his mother last evening in celebration of his 11th birthday.

Dorsey's little guests numbered just twice the number of years of his life, and were all members of his Sunday school class at the Presbyterian church. Mrs. Lawrence, teacher of the class, was the only grown-up guest.

Baseball and other sports dear to hearty, lively youngsters, gave them an appetite for the substantial birthday supper to which Mrs. Mottern summoned them when darkness fell from the wings of the night.

Corn flowers and marigolds, rich and yellow, carried out the pretty blue and gold color scheme at the three tables, about which were seated Mrs. Lawrence, Norman Axup, Edgar Colvin, Charles Meech, Herbert Jolly, Lyle McAllister, Howard Rittburg, Howard Richardson, Donald McMasler, Donald Dewey, Henry Hesse, Lynn Crisswell, Leroy Tepe, Clay Rapp, Dana Van Loon, Riley Lyons, Darrell Korb and James Fife, and the honor guest, Dorsey Mottern.

The hostess was assisted by her daughter Elizabeth, Louise Daugherty and Adrienne Lawrence.

During the after-supper hours Rev. Mottern entertained and delighted the boys by showing them his stereopticon pictures of his lecture, "Eighty Minutes Around the World," his popular lecture on "Gettysburg," and many other interesting views.

ENTERTAINS GROUP OF MUSICAL FRIENDS

Complimenting her friend, Mrs. Madeline Lux Nelson, well-known concert singer of St. Paul, Minn., Mrs. S. Frances Worsley entertained a group of her musical friends with a 1 o'clock luncheon at her home, 346 Vine street yesterday.

A profusion of yellow marigolds adorned the prettily appointed table, where an elegant five-course luncheon was served to Mes. Madeline L. Nelson, C. A. Parker, A. M. Draper, R. A. Puffer, L. N. Hagood, H. L. Lee, H. R. Wood, C. R. Stuart, Cary Groton, Harry Leonhardt, and the hostess.

In the afternoon the party drove to the home of Mrs. Stuart in Griffith park terrace, where they enjoyed a musicale the numbers of which were given by members of the guest group.

MANUFACTURING SITES IN DEMAND

L. T. Rowley, secretary of the industrial committee of the Chamber of Commerce, yesterday interviewed H. E. Gilley of Santa Monica, who came to Glendale looking for a site for a plant to turn out an instantaneous water heater now being manufactured. He was seeking about five acres, trackage, gas, electric power, telephone service, etc., and was anxious to see what Glendale had to offer. The proposition seemed to Mr. Rowley to be a good one, with no objectionable features, and later it will probably be laid before the industrial committee provided in the meantime a location elsewhere, is not selected. Mr. Gilley was invited to appear before the committee and make a statement of just what he wants. He claims to have $45,000 of stock already subscribed and may wish to sell about $25,000 worth in Glendale.

BOLD BURGLARIES ACROSS CITY'S LINE

Just across the boundary line in the Atwater tract, burglaries have recently become quite frequent. One of these happenings occurred a few days ago when the residence of C. Wesley, of 3449 Casitas avenue, was robbed at 7 p. m., while the family was absent for about an hour. Clothing, silverware and shoes were taken.

Monday at 3 p. m., the house of S. M. Keyte, 3401 Largo street, was entered through a window by a heavy-set man who was seen by a Japanese gardener, who thought that Mr. Keyte had returned home and had forgotten his key. The robber took everything of value he could find, packing much of it in a suitcase and carrying clothing on his arm.

Some of these robberies have occurred almost at the backdoor of Glendale's residents, who should be on their guard.

MUST CONFORM TO CUSTOM

A prospective lodger asked the negro butler of a boarding house: "Can I have a private bath?"

"Yes, suh!" "Yes, suh!" the old man replied. "We've only got one bathtub, but ev'body takes dey bath private in dis house, suh!"—Harper's Magazine.

"IT'S UP TO YOU"

"What is the secret of success?" asked the Sphinx.

"Push," said the button.

"Take pains," said the window.

"Always keep cool," said the ice.

"Be up to date," said the calendar.

"Never lose your head," said the barrel.

"Make lightly of everything," said the fire.

"Do a driving business," said the hammer.

"Aspire to greater things," said the nutmeg.

"Find a good thing and stick to it," said the glue.—Current Opinion.

AN EXPERT

"Who's the editor of your advice to lovers' column?"

"That fat man over there at the corner desk, who is smoking a pipe."

"Umph! What does he know about heart affairs?"

"A great deal. He was a divorce lawyer before he entered the profession of journalism."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

CONFERENCE TO BE IN BAKERSFIELD

The thirty-fifth annual convention of the Southern California Congregational conference will be held this year in Bakersfield, at the First Congregational church, May 9, 10 and 11.

The thought of the convention will be: "Strengthen the church and its ministry." Rev. Herbert C. Ide of Redlands will be moderator of the sessions.

Superintendent George F. Kennigott and Miss Sarah E. Bundy, assistant superintendent and director of religious education, will take part in the Tuesday morning conference. Miss Bundy will also conduct the young people's hour.

The annual sermon will be delivered by Rev. George Dean French, of Los Angeles.

The two outstanding social features will be the banquets on Monday and Tuesday evenings. One will be served by the young women of the church and the other by members of the Ladies' Aid.

The program for 1921-22 includes such topics as: "Evangelism," "Missionary Education," "Materials," "The Congregationalist," "Rural Life Work," "City Problems," "Stewardship," "Apportionment," "Congregational World Movement," "The National Council." Mrs. Mary Boettler, 313 West Broad-

MISERY LIKES COMPANY

A woman hired a taxicab. The door of the cab was hardly closed before the engine started with a jerk, and the cab began to race madly along, narrowly missing lamp posts, tram cars and policemen. Becoming frightened the woman rapped on the window of the cab and remonstrated with the chauffeur:

"Please be careful. This is the first time I ever rode in a taxi."

The chauffeur reassured the passenger as follows:

"That's all right, ma'am. This is the first time I ever drove one."—Ex.

DIED COMING HOME

Returning from his visit to the seashore little Dean told the family about the ocean. "Why," he exclaimed, his eyes big with excitement, "it jumped and leaped all around! I brought some of it home to show you. Now just look," and he produced a big bottle of sea water, the contents of which he poured into a pan, where it lay inert and lifeless. "Huh! that's funny," he said. "It must have died coming home."

way, and Mr. Sipple, have been appointed delegates from the First Congregational church of Glendale and it is expected that others from the Glendale church will attend.

MARKED CHANGES IN SOUTHEAST SECTION

L. W. Ball, the veteran gold miner living at 363 West Elk, took a walk the other day down in the southeast part of the city and was amazed at the wonderful building progress made in the past year or two. He was particularly struck with the change on the hill where Boynton and Cypress streets intersect, and east of there.

He recalled that 10 or 12 years ago Mr. Boynton, who owned nearly 40 acres in that section, including all of what is now Boynton street south of Palmer, had built a house up on the hill, and was in despair because no engineer could be found who could get water up to him so as to give sufficient pressure for distribution over the house. He told Mr. Ball that he would give him $8 a day, double wages in those times, for as long a time as it took him to solve the problem, if he would help him out. Mr. Ball readily took the job and in a very short time, by the use of two pumps, one to force the water on a level with the required point, and the other, a centrifugal, to lift it to the required height, he had an abundance of water for every use, just where it was needed.

But where, in those days, was a solitary house, there are now rows of beautiful bungalows or larger man-

PROSPERITY PROVERBS

There are no new proverbs: sayings have to stand the test of time before we call them proverbs. Occasionally there are collections of these sayings that are interesting. One lies before us. It is issued by a bank and is called Prosperity Proverbs. Here are some of them:

"A dollar in the pocket is on the way out.
 "The wishbone never makes good without backbone.
 "Both men and money are at their best when busy.
 "It is difficult to borrow an umbrella on a rainy day.
 "Live according to your own income—not your neighbor's.
 "In borrowing money, character is a most valuable asset.
 "It takes brains to make money, and character to keep it.
 "All things of real value are bought with self-sacrifice.
 "You can spend saved money, but you can't save spent money.
 "None but the rich can afford to speculate, and they seldom do.
 "It is more profitable to burn midnight oil than midnight gasoline.
 "When exchanging savings for stocks, take along a banker as a chaperon."

ENGLAND MAKES TRADE AGREEMENT

England has entered into a trade agreement with Russia. Premier Lloyd George explained the conditions of this agreement before the House of Commons. He said it was purely a trade agreement which recognized the de facto government of Russia. It is not a treaty of peace. In his explanation Premier George said that a complete change was evident in the attitude of the Bolshevik government toward "what is called capitalism." Some of Lenin's speeches seemed to be quite orthodox on that point. The Russian Soviet Premier was beginning to realize that trade was essential, that locomotives cannot be patched up with theories, and that the original Soviet doctrines are unworkable. This statement will be reassuring in many quarters, for it was beginning to be thought that England might be making this connection because of internal exigencies. The movement would seem to show improvement in the European situation, which means also in the world situation.

League of Nations advocates look to have been pretty generally disarmed.

RESIGNATION OF SIMONS DECLINED

By FRANK E. MASON
 I. N. S. Staff Correspondent

Ebert as a result of the bitter opposition of the German foreign minister, has tendered his resignation to President Ebert as a result of the bitter opposition of the industrial interests against the new indemnity proposals, but the President refused to accept the resignation, it was learned today. Conciliators from various political parties have requested Dr. Simons to remain in office until the reparations negotiations are concluded.

Members of the reichstag were hostile in their criticism of the indemnity offer. The note to Washington containing the proposals were called "humiliating."

Although the foreign office refused to give any information upon the subject, it was learned from a high source that Secretary of State Hughes, after perusing the contents of the German note, communicated with the German government asking that amendments be added to the original document making some points more definite.

The American secretary of state also was reported to have asked for better guarantees from Germany and that some of the conditions be struck out.

GERMAN PROPOSALS NOT ACCEPTABLE

By NEWTON C. PARKE
 I. N. S. Staff Correspondent

PARIS, April 28.—The German indemnity proposals in their present form are not acceptable to France, it was declared today in official circles.

Officials said that the difference between the German offer and the allied demand for 226,000,000,000 gold marks with guarantees is so great that there is nothing left for France to do but to reject the German proposition.

CLAIMS M'GRAW IS RESPONSIBLE

(By International News Service)

SAN JOSE, April 28.—Hal Chase, former star big league first baseman, who has been arrested here on an indictment returned in Chicago charging complicity in the world series scandal today charged that jealousy on the part of John J. McGraw, manager of the New York Giants, was responsible for his prosecution.

McGraw, he claimed, became jealous because of the friendliness of a Chicago girl toward Chase in whom he alleged the New York manager was interested.

"When you read about Benton and Dubuc of the Giants accusing me of crookedness, it was McGraw getting even with me, that was all," Chase said here today. "The truth of it all is that Dan Johnson, McGraw and others never forgave me for jumping to the federal league."

A Fascist student was killed while attending a funeral at Caltanissetta, Sicily. The socialists were attacked later and four persons were killed and 100 wounded. They wish to start out in a small way and then build up a plant similar to that of "Shredded Wheat." It will be a very clean, sanitary nice affair, with no objectionable features and particularly well suited to a town like Glendale. Secretary Rhoades is taking them on a tour of inspection and will try to help them to find what they are seeking.

HAPSBURG CRADLE VISITED BY KARL

(By International News Service)

GENEVA, April 27.—Ex-Emperor Karl of Austria, accompanied by two priests and two detectives, recently visited the cradle of the Hapsburg dynasty, the ruined Chateau Hapsburg, in the Canton of Argovie. Only the outer walls of the castle, constructed in 1020, exist. The grounds belong to a farmer, who received Karl in a democratic fashion, serving cafe au lait in the kitchen. The ancestors of Karl were defeated in the battle of Sempach, and were finally expelled from Switzerland in 1386.

WORLD'S RAILROADS ARE FACING CRISIS

By DAVID M. CHURCH
N. S. Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, April 27.—The world's railroads are facing a crisis. Reports and statistics gathered by the Association of Railway Executives here show that not only are the railroads of the United States facing serious difficulties, but that the railroads of Europe are facing even more critical conditions.

Post-war business depression and readjustment has brought the railroads of the world face to face with a struggle for existence under private ownership, according to the reports received here.

The situation that confronts the American railroads is well known.

"The financial position of the railways in the United States may be bad; but they are apparently as badly off, if not worse, in England," says a statement of the situation prepared by the Association of Railway Executives.

"The railways in France are suffering from the same malady," says the statement.

The railroads of Russia and Germany are known to be in a deplorable condition, and the same holds true of the railroad systems in many of the smaller countries.

The railroad systems of England on December 31, 1920, showed a deficit of $169,549,557 to be met from the public treasury, according to the reports received here.

The latest statistics available show that the French railroads suffered a deficit of $260,878,100 in 1919, as compared with a deficit of $15,188,900 in 1913.

The total deficit of the railways operated by the Canadian government in 1920 is reported as $70,331,734.

U. S. Deficit Nearly Million

During January the American railroads suffered a deficit of $958,399, and in February there was a deficit of $7,205,000.

As evidence that the present depression which is affecting the railroads is similar to that which has come during every period of business depression, the Association of Railway Executives declares that at present "the percentage of idle cars is slightly less than it was during the business slump that followed the signing of the armistice, or the financial depression of 1908."

In defense of increased rates the association presents a statistical study by Julius H. Parmelee, which concludes that "prices have been declining ever since the increased rates went into effect, so that the effect of the higher rates has not been in the direction of boosting prices."

Economics Blamed

Further supporting its contention that world economic conditions are responsible for present business conditions, the association's statement quotes E. E. Clark, chairman of the Interstate Commerce Commission, as follows: "The whole country and all of our people, excepting those who are and have been shamelessly profiteering, are suffering the after-effects of a titanic war. . . . In some quarters zealous efforts are made to have it appear that this situation is in large part, or in the main, due to high freight rates. . . . Careful inquiry discloses that the utilization of products is prevented, not by the freight rates but by economic conditions."

EARNST MOVEMENT FOR ANNEXATION

A meeting, attended by about thirty business men of Glendale was held Tuesday evening at the offices of Doner, Hemenway & Burn to consider the advisability of annexation to Los Angeles for the purpose of facilitating a solution of the sewer problem for Glendale and other advantages claimed for such union. Col. Tom Thornton was made chairman of the meeting, which adjourned to meet again at some future date for further conference and organization.

BUILDING PERMITS STILL MOUNTING

Three rather large permits were taken out this morning; one for $8000 by Harry White for his nine-room house at 600 North Jackson, G. M. Calkins, contractor; another for $5900 by Mrs. Sidonie Castels, for a seven-room residence at 112 West Garfield; the third for $4800 by H. J. Eggers, who will build a five-room residence at 417 North Isabel. The total for April at 2 p. m. today was $356,593 and for the year $1,171,516.

LIVES IN HISTORY

City of Alexandria, Virginia, Is Immortal.

With Its Memories of the Greatest American, It Yields Place Only to the National Capital.

Economic clocks cease their ticking, industrial enterprises stop their whirr, and America celebrates each twenty-second day of February in honor of George Washington.

"Across the Potomac from the city which perhaps is the most elaborate and enduring monument that perpetuates the name of any human being is a smaller, older, but up-to-date city, which reverently pays her tribute to the great man who surveyed its town lots. He also commanded its troops, sat in its historic Christ church while President of the United States, and tripped the stately minuet in its parlors," says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic society.

"Alexandria, Virginia, which was so promising at the close of the Revolutionary war that it was considered a possible seat for the infant national government, and which indeed might have had the honor, so the story goes, if the great man who lived within a stone's throw of its borders had thought it fair to use his influence in its behalf, is today an up-and-doing city. A naval torpedo plant is being constructed there at the present time, and during the World war it had a fully equipped shipbuilding plant.

"The first ship built at this plant was the Gunston Hall, named after the home of George Mason, father of the Virginia declaration of rights, at that time probably the most complete statement of the rights of man.

"This shipbuilding plant which now stands idle awaiting the development of new plans concerning our merchant shipping covers 46 acres of land along a river which measures 40 feet in depth at the city pier. At no point in its course to the ocean is the channel less than 30 feet in depth.

"The coal fields of the Cumberland are but 40 miles away, and the cheapness of transportation to the city adds another commercial asset. The inhabitants in the decade between 1830 and 1840 foresaw the power which was coming into being to the west of them, and expended large amounts of money in building the Alexandria canal and in contributions to the Chesapeake and Ohio canal.

"The Lee highway from New York to San Francisco, now being constructed, passes through Alexandria and westward through the beautiful and historic Valley of Virginia. Very aptly might Alexandria, from its geographical position, be given the sobriquet, 'The Gateway to the South.'

"Tourists to the Capital city—and everyone feels that sooner or later he must see the capitol, the White House and the Monument—usually find a few hours, if no more, to cross the Potomac and sit in the silence of the quaint little church in its pretty green churchyard where Washington advocated before the townspeople in 1774 resistance to Great Britain, and where Robert E. Lee agreed to take command of the Virginia troops at the beginning of the Civil war in 1861. Washington's pew is marked today, but unfortunately the high backs of the seats, which in former days kept the President from seeing exactly what kinds of lace the bewigged gentlemen in front of him had at their throats, were cut down by a subsequent rector who wanted his church to keep pace of the times. It is said that Washington and the famous and devoted Martha always rode from Mt. Vernon in a handsome cream-colored coach to attend the services.

"The seeker for excellent examples of Colonial architecture can have a sigh of satisfaction when he catches his first glimpse of Carlyle house, as this home in which the illustrious gentleman and charming women of old colony days discussed state questions and tripped a measure or two is considered one of the best specimens of Eighteenth century architecture in existence. Maj. John Carlyle, who built it in 1752, provided a means of escape for his family, in case of attack by the Indians, in a subterranean passage that leads from the house through the fort on which the house is located to the Potomac. Here they could get into boats and sail down the river to safety."

Couldn't Stand Motor Traffic. Few Americans traveling from Durham to London, more than 200 miles, realize that the road on which their car is moving was originally surveyed and constructed by the Romans. It was called Watling street, and it ran north to that Roman wall along the Cheviot hills which kept out the invading Picts and Scots.

Music Increases Output. Some English firms are trying the effect of a gramophone or a piano player upon their workpeople. It is found that fingers soon seize the rhythm, figures sway and the output is increased. Waltzes bring good results and jazz music bad results.

WITH THE FUNNY MEN

Tempus Fugit.

The traveler raced his fastest to the one-horse railway station and missed the train by the most vexatious of narrow margins.

"When is the next train in that direction?" he asked, pointing to the receding cars.

"Tomorrow," answered the station agent.

"At what time?"

"Just one minute sooner than right now."—American Legion Weekly.

He Paid for It, Though.

Mrs. Myles—That's an awfully shabby suit your husband is wearing. Mrs. Styles—I know it.

"Doesn't he ever buy any new clothes?"

"Why, certainly he does."

"Why don't you make him wear 'em, then?"

"Don't be silly. How do you think he'd look in my clothes?"

Unreasonable Suggestion.

"What will prevent your wife from going through your clothes at night?" asked the citizen who is always telling his troubles.

"Have you ever tried going home without 'em?" asked his unsympathetic friend. "There are no pockets in B. V. D.'s or union suits."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

A Contemplative Mood.

"Do you think the world is growing better and wiser?"

"Yes," replied Mr. Growcher. "All I'm afraid of is that the world will become so completely interested in abstract questions of morality and wisdom that it'll neglect the plain ordinary industry necessary to keep it going."

He'd Overheard.

"You've never heard my wife sing, I believe," said the man who was proud of what he was pleased to call his better half's accomplishments.

"Of course I have," replied his gruff old neighbor. "You don't suppose we can keep our windows closed all the time, do you?"

Anticipating an Order.

"Why did you throw those two pieces of toast out there on the grass?" asked the fat restaurateur.

"I wanted to see if a couple of quail would come around and lay down on 'em, sir," replied the white-capped chef.

THE EXCEPTION.

"No gentlemen would lie about his golf score."

"Certainly not—unless, of course, he was quite sure that no other gentleman was in a position to prove the falsehood of his statements."

Pursued by the Girl's Father.

"Yes; I get $5 for marryin' each couple, an' they come in such darned haste I allus fine 'em $10 or more for speedin'."

IN JUNGLE'S GRIP

Writer Tells of Varieties of Tropical Tramps.

Three Distinct Types Encountered in the Wilderness, Far From Any Habitation of White Men.

The more one wanders in the tropics, the stronger grows the call of the wanderlust, writes Harry L. Foster in Leslie's.

It makes tropical tramps. I have met many of them. Some were bums; some were railroad superintendents or managers of mining camps. Their one common failing was the foot itch.

When two Protestant missionaries passed through Lima on their way across the jungles to the Amazon to see whether the cannibals would take kindly to conversion, I left the embassy and joined them. We traveled by mule over the Andes and down the headwaters of the big rivers. Then we paddled down in a dugout canoe, sleeping at night on mosquito-infested sandbars, eating turtle eggs and monkey meat.

I had met one class of T. T.'s in the mining camps—the kind that travel from camp to camp, making enough at one mine to carry them on to the next. Down in the jungle I met another type.

The first of them was Lloyd. He owned a coffee plantation down at the beginning of the trail. A graduate of Oxford university, he had retired into the woods with his books and had not been out for 20 years.

"How do you manage to live?" I asked him.

"Do you see that grove of orange trees? Well, the oranges I can't eat fall off the trees and the hogs eat them, and I eat the hogs."

"But don't you get tired of the place?"

He merely laughed. For hours he talked to me about the Indians and their customs. Savage Indians, down here. In the forest he knew the habits of every animal, and the name of every vine or tree or shrub.

"Do you think I'd go back home and break my neck riding in subways, trying to get to an office at a certain hour? No, sir!"

Farther in the interior, on the Pichis river, I met Crawford, an Irishman, once a rubber baron, with 300 Indians working for him. He had lost his fortune when rubber fell in value, and was living on a small farm in the wilderness. He has been in the interior 26 years, miles from the habitation of another white man.

"Is it lonesome I am?" he repeated. "Sure an' with all these mosquitoes here, I am not."

Still farther in the interior I met a third type—Palmer. While pursuing adventure through the jungle he had found an old Indian squaw who owned a handful of gold nuggets. No amount of coaxing would persuade her to reveal the source of the mineral. Palmer, however, settled there, opened a small farm, employed the squaw as his housekeeper, and patiently sought to win her confidence. When I met him he had been there for five years.

"I ain't learned it yet," he told me, "but she's gettin' more 'n' more confidential every day."

His remark sounds like "sour grapes" to most of us, but I believe it.

Dangers of Other Centuries.

A good many hundred thousand years ago there were various queer animals on this earth, and one of the queerest was a creature that is known today under the pleasant title of plesiosaurus dolichodeirus, or long-necked sea lizard. These far from pretty animals had a body shaped somewhat like a cigar, with a snake-like neck and a head that resembled a duck's, while it was thrust through the water by four flappers and a short tail.

An idea of their size can be gathered when it is known that a single tooth was a foot or more in length, and its head, the smallest part of its anatomy, was six feet long. A total length of 60 feet would not be a giant by any means, and there is reason to believe its strength was so great that a single snap of the jaws would be powerful enough to cut through a tree with a 36-inch circumference. It lived almost all of the time in the sea, and dined off fish and other marine food. Its battles must have been terrific, as skeletons have been found where great pieces of vertebrae have been torn out, evidently from the living creature.

End to Everything.

It was a sorority dance, formal, of course. He was not a finished dancer, and was exceedingly sensitive about being seen. After months of urging she had convinced him that he should attend. As he broke into the spirit of the affair he grew less fearful, and as they glided across the floor he glanced down at her face and said:

"Darling, I believe I could dance with you forever—just like this. Could you?"

"Yes, dear; but even a sidewalk will wear out some time," she answered.

Good Timber.

"Are you the president-elect?"

"Yes, my friend. What can I do for you?"

"Not a thing. I don't want an office. Don't even want to offer you any good advice."

"My friend, I'm sorry the cabinet appointments have been made."

The commission is aware that you and the community which you serve are greatly interested in this investigation and we believe that with your knowledge of local conditions you may be able to give us valuable suggestions for the betterment of the service if you will be good enough to cooperate with us in this work.

The commission desires that anyone in your community who has any complaints or suggestions shall be given an opportunity to present his views and all communications received by us will be considered and investigated.

During the course of this investigation one of the commission's engineers will call on you and discuss the Pacific Electric transportation problems of your community and we will be glad to have you at all times keep in touch with our work. The engineers handling this work may be reached at room 674, Pacific Electric building, Los Angeles, where their services and the data collected by them will be at your disposal.

In order that you may be informed in the status and general scope of the work being done, there is attached for your information copy of a memorandum of December 11, 1920, giving an outline of the program of investigation as approved by the commission and also a copy of a memorandum of January 14, 1921, together with an organization blue print showing the methods adopted by the department to carry out the program.

INDICTED MEN ARE ROUNDED UP

CHICAGO, April 28.—George Gorman, assistant states attorney in charge of the prosecution of those indicted in the 1919 world series scandal, began an investigation today of reports that J. J. (Sport) Sullivan of Boston, indicted as one of the gamblers involved in the plan to buy the series, had fled to Canada.

Gorman is rounding up all of the indicted who have not appeared and given bond. In trying to locate Sullivan, apparently authentic information that he had gone to Canada was received.

"Chick" Gandil, former White Sox first baseman, was arrested last night in Los Angeles at the request of the Chicago authorities. Hal Chase also is under arrest. Extradition proceedings to bring them to Chicago will be started. Arrest of William Burns, former big league pitcher who is said to be in Texas, has been ordered.

No word has been received from Abe Attell, former puglist, and Rachael Brown, said to be an associate of Sullivan. Louis Levy, Ben Levy and David Selser of Des Moines, have notified the states attorney they will give bond by May 1. Eddie Cicotte, former White Sox pitcher, also will give bond by May 1.

HUGHES TO DECIDE ATTITUDE OF U. S.

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON, April 28.—Secretary of State Hughes was expected to decide today whether the moral influence of the United States is to be thrown behind the German reparations proposals with a view to having them accepted by the allies as a basis for resuming negotiations.

The proposal of the German government has created a distinctly favorable impression here and predictions were freely made in official circles that unless unsurmountable obstacles were interposed, the administration would see fit to recommend favorable consideration by the allied governments and to the suggestion that discussion be reopened.

It was pointed out, however, that the situation is extremely delicate. Secretary Hughes, in accepting the task of mediation, made it plain that he would bring a German counter proposal to the attention of the allies only in a way which would be acceptable to them.

TWO MEETINGS HELD TO SOLVE SEWAGE PLAN

Kindred but Entirely Independent Plans Are Suggested by Eminent Authorities—Idea of Local Sewage Disposal Demonstrated to Government's Satisfaction

At the meeting of Glendale business men held at the office of Doner, Hemenway & Burn to informally consider the problem of sewers for Glendale and whether annexation to Los Angeles would help or hinder the solution, one of the men present, A. H. Jones of this city, an engineer who has definite knowledge and ideas on the subject, made a protest against any move to join in an outfall sewer to empty into the ocean until an investigation could be made of methods of local disposal, which have been worked out by Engineer Osborne of Cleveland, Ohio, and demonstrated to the satisfaction of the National Government in the District of Columbia.

It was significant that at the same hour a meeting of the local committee of 19 appointed to study Glendale's sewer problem was meeting at the city hall, and was being addressed by W. R. Mitchell, a sanitary engineer of Los Angeles, who came from Ohio, and who advocated much of the same plan as that mentioned by Mr. Jones, the dehydration of garbage and sewage to render it innocuous and salable for fertilizers and other purposes. His plan seemed so practical that the committee may decide to call a general meeting to be addressed by Mr. Mitchell. The interesting fact, however, is that it dovetails, apparently, with Mr. Jones' suggestion relative to the Osborne plan, and also to a considerable extent with the suggestions of Olmstead & Gillett, the engineers employed by the city, who have been authorized to make certain experimental tests in the course of their investigation.

Mr. Jones states that while in the army he had occasion to interview Engineer Osborne who had made a study of conditions of this kind with regard to sewage disposal in both this country and abroad and who was employed by the District of Columbia and Washington city to make a survey there. After receiving his report he was employed to install the machinery for the reduction work in Washington, and that plant has been very successful. He has also installed a plant at Columbus, Ohio, and it is one of the few systems in the United States that has made money. The water from which the solids are removed is all sterilized and contains no bacteria.

This man, Mr. Jones, says, is capable of making a study and quickly determining what method is best for a particular locality with due regard to the kind of soil and topography of the country. Pamphlets issued by the commissioners at Washington, giving a detailed report of the plant there, have been turned over to City Manager Watson by Mr. Jones, and will probably be referred to the sewer committee. If time is the great consideration, Mr. Jones thinks it might be possible to persuade Engineer Osborne to come to Glendale for a moderate fee, make a survey of the situation and quickly render an authoritative opinion on the practicability of a disposal plant which would yield an income instead of being an expense. But that, of course, is up to the city trustees.

"THE DEVIL" AT GLENDALE THEATER

George Arliss, who has the stellar role in "The Devil," the feature picture at the Glendale theater today, is one of the greatest actors of the speaking stage. He is mentioned in the same breath with such artists as Maude Adams, David Warfield, Mrs. Fiske and the Barrymores. Before attaining stardom many years ago, he supported Mrs. Patrick Campbell, Blanche Bates and Mrs. Fiske. When he played "The Devil" on the speaking stage, he created a furor, and ever since then his appearance in a new play is an event in any American city honored by his visits.

In the fullest sense of the word, "The Devil" is a photographic triumph—an inspired screen masterpiece—a classic. It achieves many things. It marks the photo-play debut of George Arliss, who has steadfastly refused to appear before the camera. It presents him in his greatest role and one that was the sensation of two continents.

Gripping, tense and dynamic is the story. Vivid, colorful and highly visionary is the production.

This picture was shown at the Glendale theater yesterday for the first time. It will be shown again Friday and Saturday. It is the first film to show in Glendale for four successive days.

COULDN'T DEPORT HIM

"Redwood Bailey," the famous American Indian, was arrested some time ago for a "seditious" speech made to a street crowd. The "cop" taking him in charge said, "If you don't like this country, why don't you go back where you came from?"—Pearson's Magazine.

WOMAN'S COZY CORNER

WHEN FISH IS SERVED

At many family tables fish is served at least once a week, but nine times out of ten it is fried or baked fish the year round—merely because many housewives do not know a variety of ways of serving fish, or do not realize how appetizing and nourishing fish and sea food is in all its forms. But during the Lenten season fish is served more frequently, and the following recipes will be most welcome:

Fish Roe

From the first of the year to the end of autumn fish roe of some kind is obtainable. Much less expensive but even more delicious than shad roe is herring roe, flounder roe, haddock roe and others to be had on inquiry at the fish market, and seldom costing over 25 cents a pound. Also as there is no bone nor skin, fish roe is an economical dainty. To cook any sort without spattering grease rinse roe in cold water, then drop in boiling water and simmer for 15 or 20 minutes. Drain, put in a greased tin, sprinkle with salt, pepper and, if liked, a few drops of lemon juice. Spread with soft butter or salad oil and dredge with flour. Cook, covered in the oven for 15 minutes. When turn, and bake uncovered for 15 minutes. If the roe is thick, split, after parboiling as before, dredge with flour and fry, covering for the first five minutes.

Fish Roe Croquettes

To a cup of the cooked roe add one-half cup cream sauce, an egg and two tablespoons fine bread crumbs. Season with salt, pepper and lemon juice. Form into croquettes, let stand in refrigerator for an hour, then coat with crumbs and egg, and fry as usual.

Tuna Fish Souffle

Scald a can of tuna fish—pound size—and drain, then beat fine with a tablespoon of melted butter or substitute. Mix with it a cup of freshly mashed, light potatoes, one-half cup thick cream sauce, one-half teaspoon minced onion, salt and pepper to taste, and the yolks of two eggs. Beat well until smooth, then fold in the stiffly beaten whites of the eggs, put in baking dish, well greased, and bake in moderate oven for 20 or 25 minutes. Although called a souffle this will not fall, and is really a substantial dish.

Baked Halibut, Cod or Haddock

These fish, like salmon, are usually cut in slices of any desired thickness. Most cooks fry or broil them, but they are very nice baked. Put one slice on well greased rack or baking pan. If rack is used it must of course be stood in a pan. Spread fish with softened butter and sprinkle with salt and pepper. Cover with a stuffing made as previously directed, then lay the second slice on top, spread with butter and season. Bake for 35 minutes, basting as before, and turning so both slices are equally browned, then pile more of the stuffing on top slice, and bake until stuffing is well browned. Serve with tomato sauce.

Creole Crab Meat

Get one-half pound can crab meat or fresh crab flakes. Melt in skillet two tablespoons butter or substitute and in this fry for five minutes one green pepper minced after the seeds are removed, two tablespoons minced onions, and one-half cup of the solid part of canned tomato, or if in season one-half cup cut up, skinned fresh tomato. When hot stir in a cup of hot milk to which a tiny pinch of soda is added, and finally the crab meat. Bring to boil, season to taste with salt and cayenne or paprika and slightly thicken with a teaspoon of flour mixed with a teaspoon of butter. Remove from fire and stir in a well beaten egg, then put back on fire just long enough to cook the egg—about two minutes. Serve on buttered toast, or in pastry shells, or plain with boiled rice. This mixture turned into a buttered glass baking dish sprinkled thick with crumbs, then buttered crumbs strewn thick on top, and the whole baked until crumbs are browned—in about 10 minutes—is exceedingly good for a meat substitute. Serve with a celery salad.

Creamed Shrimp

Shrimp can now be bought in a green state—that is to say uncooked—nearly the whole year around, and failing these, can always be had in cans. They are a wholesome, cheap food, and delicious when properly prepared. If bought green, wash through several waters to remove the sand, then drop in simmering, slightly salted water and cook for 20 minutes. Drain and chill in cold water. Pull off shells, and with a sharp vegetable knife split each along the curved side, the cut disclosing a threadlike black line which must be lifted out with the knife point as it is a mass of grit and gives a disagreeable licorice-like flavor. Drain shrimp, sprinkle with lemon juice and let stand in cold place for an hour or so. For a pint of prepared shrimp allow four tablespoons butter or substitute, four tablespoons flour, two cups milk, teaspoon lemon juice, celery salt and pepper or paprika to taste. Make a cream sauce of these ingredients, and shrimp and boil up once. Serve in pepper shells, pastry shells or on toast with boiled rice. A teaspoon of minced onion and a teaspoon of curry powder mixed with the cream sauce makes Curried Shrimp.

C. OF C. PLANS TO ADVERTISE CITY

Secretary Rhoades of the Glendale chamber of commerce is asking Glendallians to put the Glendale sign on their automobiles when they leave the city as a means of advertising our town. These signs and cloth pennants will be on sale at cost at the chamber and also at the drug store of H. S. Webb, chairman of the advertising committee. Mr. Rhoades is having some "California straight ahead" stickers made with the word "Glendale" above the legend which will also be on sale at cost at the chamber, and which business men will be asked to use on the letters they send out of town.

BABIES ARE GUESTS OF HONOR OF CIRCLE

The new babies of members of the Mutual Benefit Reading Circle, five of them, were guests of the Circle at its regular meeting in the public library yesterday. There are really eight of them, but three sent their regrets.

All unimpaired of their dignity as honor guests of this important organization, the babies pursued the even tenor of their way while the program of the day was carried out.

Mrs. E. G. Pomeroy gave a concise and comprehensive review of "Recreation," by Edward Yeomans. Mrs. Henry read a part of the story, "Prestons Growing Up," and the Circle continued its consideration of "The Biography of a Baby."

Fifty ladies were present to admire the new babies and to participate in the program given under the leadership of Mrs. A. A. Barton, president of the class.

CONSTANCE BINNEY AT PALACE GRAND

Constance Binney in her latest picture, "Something Different," is the feature picture at the Palace Grand theater today.

This play has been adapted from Alice Duer Miller's novel "Calderon's Prisoner" and is said to be a worthy vehicle for the gifts of the great star of '39 East.

Mermaids' "The Simp" is an amusing feature of today's bill and there is the usual orchestra program.

HARVARD OWNERS ARE SITTING TIGHT

Max Green, agent for the Oakland car on Harvard street, expects to have a good place in automobile row if it materializes, and is fortified against the future by his present location and additional ground which he owns to the west and on which he plans at some time to erect a show room. He at one time owned the northeast corner of Orange and Harvard streets, but it is now the property of Mrs. Thompson, who is said to have recently refused $7000 for a 45-foot frontage.

DEFINITE ACTION TOWARD GERMANY

(By International News Service) WASHINGTON, April 28.—Although officials here continue to withhold all comment on the German reparations proposal, it is expected today the United States will take definite action with regard to the latest German overtures.

Paris reports that Ambassador Jusserand has been instructed to inform this government that the proposals are unacceptable, were not officially confirmed this morning. Although it was expected that the French ambassador would call at the state department today and make known the attitude of his government.

Although President Harding is today at Norfolk, for a naval review, it is understood here that his absence will not delay action by the United States, for it is believed that the policy of this government has been definitely decided upon and arrangements have been made to keep in touch with the president by radio.
